VINTAGE NOTES

Winemaking gets tested some years, like 2020. All the climate and grapegrowing underpinnings for greatness were there: good but not overpowering heat and little rain. Weather was not the test on winery skills, dealing with climate's first-time effects from wildfire was the test.

And, we once again found that Place Matters. Distant wildfires had an impact on aromas, flavors and textures to varying degrees based on place. Grape varieties and how they are made left some wines unaffected, others needing ingenuity to dodge it. White wines were unscathed if made well, red wines benefited from a lighter touch in extraction and calling lucky sites, like Ridgecrest, home.

How great will 2020 be—close to perfect growing season, concentrated fruit from low yields—how a wisp of campfire is embraced maybe being the key? Grapegrowing is farming after all, winemaking an attempt at alchemy.

WINEMAKER'S NOTES

Here's another Riesling that hits it out of the park, if we do say so ourselves...And, we couldn't be happier, because as many of you are aware, our whole crew has a slight obsession with Riesling. Ridgecrest, in this instance, allows the marine-sediment soils to show through with seashell, wet sand, and a mineral-driven, tight nose. We even notice a squeeze of lemon rind, and some oyster crackers (are we at the beach yet?) and an accent of honeysuckle. The palate is juicy and flush with Asian pear, honeyed candy, dried apricot, and white pepper. A kiss of residual sugar is just enough to move the dryness scale from austere to a balanced, silky, supply-textured "dry." We will be taking this new Riesling on every coastal trip we have coming up, and celebrating the lovely fruit given to us from the former ocean that is the Ribbon Ridge viticultural area.

Harry Peterson-Nedry | Founder

When we first set foot on Ribbon Ridge in 1980, we knew it was something special. There was an indefinable magic to the place, in the low-slung, rolling hills that rise and fall like the breath of a slumbering child. It was undeniably alive, and bursting with potential.

In 1980 folks thought we were just plain nuts to plant wine grapes on that chilly rise located on the western edge of the Willamette Valley. The common thought at the time was that the site was situated too far west for grapes - too windy, too foggy, too cool.

We naively followed our gut, planting the first vineyard on what would one day become one of the premier wine appellations in Oregon, the Ribbon Ridge AVA. Ridgecrest Vineyards did not disappoint. Early barrel samples were encouraging. We studied it, continued to plant, and dug deeply.

Crafting our cellar-worthy RR wines since 2002, we know these vineyards – the ins and outs, strengths, and peculiarities of each and every block. We've done our homework.

Now, it's recess. We're ready to come out and play.*

Our new RIDGECREST label allows us to do just that – to experiment with all of those blocks, lots, and barrels that beg our attention every harvest – the ones we are loathe to blend with others, because they are just so damned intriguing. Pinot Noir will be the mainstay, with supporting roles played by Gamay Noir, Grüner Veltliner, Pinot Gris and Riesling.
